CONDENSER WATER TREATMENT

“WATER & ENERGY CONSERVATION AND WATER RE-USE”

We at SAN JOAQUIN CHEMICALS, INC., have been successfully treating Title 22 recycle water for cooling water systems make-up and cooling tower systems blowdown for percolation, irrigation, landscaping and other re-use applications for more than 4½ decades.

In addition, our water recycle technology precedes the mid to late 1970's water crisis in Northern California; we were the only water treatment company developing and advancing the re-use of cooling tower blowdown water pre 1970. In addition to using Title 22 recycle water for cooling tower make-up, our expertise is unequalled in the area of treating process water for re-use.

We can also assure that tower water blowdown treated with SAN JOAQUIN CHEMICALS, INC., products will eliminate any short-term or long-term percolation water issues when properties change hands.

WHEN TAKING IN YOUR CAR, BE SURE TO...

- Talk to them - Describe what problems you are experiencing to the technician, but ultimately let them diagnose what is wrong with your car.
- Don't be afraid to ask your technician to take a drive with you - Intermittent problems often require extra time to diagnose, so be prepared to leave it overnight or longer.
- Approve the Estimate - Accurate estimates for routine maintenance service intervals such as oil changes, transmission service, etc. are usually right on. Shops are required to document your approval of an estimate before beginning repairs.
- Pay Attention when picking up your car - When you pick up your car, get a complete and detailed written summary describing everything the mechanic did, and ask them to go over it with you. Be sure to save all your paperwork in case there is an issue down the road.

WHAT'S THAT PUDDLE UNDER YOUR CAR?

- Anti-Freeze: Anti-Freeze is easily identified by its unnatural color and sweet scent (please don't ingest it, Anti-Freeze is highly toxic). This usually means that you have a leak somewhere around your radiator, or one of the attached hoses. While not as dangerous, see to repairs in a timely manner. Less coolant can lead to your engine overheating and leave you stranded in that merciless California heat.
- Automatic Transmission Fluid: color is between a light red or dark reddish-brown. This helps your car shift its gears, and a leak would be coming from somewhere around the front half of your car, around the vicinity of your transmission. It's important to have this fixed, or else you run the risk of your car's transmission burning out.
- Brake Fluid: Brake Fluid is a colorless or translucent yellow, and has the consistency vegetable oil. If you suspect that your car is leaking brake fluid, call a tow truck. DO NOT drive your car to the shop.
- Engine Oil: Oil is pretty easy, as it is always a yellowish-brown color. If you see that your car is leaking oil, you should get it fixed ASAP. Lack of oil in your car can easily lead to major damage to the engine, and you might even need a new one altogether.
- Gasoline: Pretty simple. If it looks like gasoline, and smells like gasoline, then it's probably gasoline. Gas leaks are more common than you'd think. However, while fixing a smaller leak is an easy Saturday DIY session, you should definitely take it to a mechanic if it looks to be more serious.
- Power Steering Fluid: A thick, yellowish substance. The lack of which is easy to notice, as it requires much more effort to steer while driving.
- Water: Water dripping from your car is probably the least serious leak. Most of the time, it is built up condensation from your car's A/C, or collected from driving through a puddle.
- Wiper Fluid: Has the consistency of regular water, but with an unnatural blue color (sometimes orange or green). Not a dangerous leak, more of a nuisance.

Industry Tips: Auto Repair

From An Industry Professional

What's That Noise...?

6 common noises your car makes to let you know it's time to visit the shop!

1. A metallic clinking sound:

If you hear something rattling while you are traveling at a slower speed, there could be a loose lug nut inside a hub cap. Take your vehicle to a mechanic ASAP.

2. A squealing or grinding sound when you apply the brakes:

This squealing noise could indicate it's time to replace the brake pads. A grinding sound could be a sign that the brake pads are so worn that it could affect the safety of brake system. See a mechanic ASAP.

3. A popping or clicking sound while turning your vehicle:

If you hear this sound while turning a front-wheel or all-wheel drive vehicle, this could mean one (or both!) of the CV joints on your front axle needs to be replaced. Time to see a mechanic.

4. A clunking sound from under the hood:

This is a sign there may be a problem with the car's valves, pistons, or rods. See a mechanic right away.

5. A squealing sound from under the hood upon start-up or as you accelerate:

This could indicate a worn or loose accessory belt that drives the power steering pump, air conditioner compressor, and alternator. Or, it may be the serpentine belt, which is a relatively minor repair.

6. A rhythmic squeak that speeds up as you accelerate:

If you have rear-wheel or four-wheel drive and hear this sound, it could be the universal joint (U-joint), a component of the driveshaft. Get it checked by a mechanic immediately.

Industry Tips: HVAC

From An Industry Professional

Breathe-Easier With These Tips Regarding HVAC Systems

FINDING A TRUSTWORTHY HVAC CONTRACTOR

Naturally, you can ask a friend/family member or check with your local BBB at bbb.org. The perks of the latter being the luxury of seeing if they're accredited with your BBB, their track record, reviews, complaints etc. It's always a good idea to shop for quotes and have at least 3 different price quotes to choose from.

Next, ensure that the person you are hiring has an active C-20 Warm-Air Heating, Ventilating and Air conditioning license from the Contractors State Licensing Board. Without an active license, the contractor in question cannot perform a job that costs over $500 total. In addition, make sure that the contractor is fully insured and has workers' compensation for a worst-case scenario.

ABOUT YOUR CONTRACT

According to CSLB, building permits generate routine inspections to help assure that the system was installed properly, is functioning efficiently, meets Home Energy Rating System testing and verification requirements, and complies with the State Building Energy Efficiency Standards.

HOW OFTEN ARE YOU SUPPOSED TO SERVICE YOUR HVAC SYSTEM?

Most Americans do not clean their systems as often as they should. Most experts agree that you would want to have your unit serviced at least once annually, regardless of model or equipment, if not less than that under certain circumstances. If you or someone you live with is allergic to things such as mold or dust, or live with one or more pets in the house, you might want to have the unit serviced more often than only once a year, especially the filters. And, like most appliances, keeping your HVAC system running smoothly can extend its lifespan.

When hiring an HVAC technician to perform maintenance on your unit and/or system, be sure to have them provide you with a written copy of what services they will be performing, the costs of that accordingly, the warranty and service guarantees and finally, any extra charges that might be accumulated.

Alternatively, you could also try asking the company that installed your system whether or not they have a service plan available. Where you could hire them to perform routine maintenance on your system with other potential benefits as well. Some companies include free maintenance calls and/or discounts on repairs and parts as part of their service plan. Just make sure that you get it all in writing.

Want to keep your system clean? Remove leaves and other accumulated debris from the outdoor coil's area. After that, rinse the coil with water. DO NOT use a pressure sprayer or soaps, as it can ruin the coil.

COOLING OFF RULE

The FTC's Cooling-Off Rule gives you a 3-day right to cancel any sale made at your home, your workplace, or dormitory. By law, the seller must inform you of your right to cancel at the time of the sale, and provide you with two copies of a cancellation form, and a copy of your contract/receipt. The contractor should include the date, the name and address of the seller, and your right to cancel. You have until midnight of the third business day after the sale to invoke your cancellation clause.

Industry Tips: Solar

From An Industry Professional

Going Solar can be quite the undertaking, make sure that Solar is right for you. Listed here are various suggestions and tips that you should keep in mind. So, before you do anything else, consider the following:

IS THE SUNLIGHT THAT HITS YOUR ROOF OBSCURED IN ANY WAY?

This is a question more-so for folks who live in neighborhoods dotted with tall trees or buildings. Make sure your roof faces the ideal direction, and how much sunlight actually reaches it, etc.

CAN YOUR ROOF SUPPORT THE WEIGHT OF THE PANELS?

If your roof is on the older side, you might want to double-check that your roof can support the panels after they're installed. Not only that, but keep in mind the durability of solar panels. It'd be inconvenient having the panels installed only to have to replace your roof just two years later.

ARE YOU LOOKING TO PURCHASE OR LEASE?

Do some research and find out which of the two is best for you.

- Purchasing: the equipment can be very expensive, but with time, should pay for itself. If you purchase, you can receive a 30% federal tax credit. While it can take a long while to pay off, the idea is that at some point in time the investment can break-even, and go on from there. You should also look into how your local energy provider might purchase excess power that your panels produce from you.
- Leasing: you can hire a third-party business to install the solar panels for you, and in this case, you are not actually paying for the equipment. However, the businesses can also provide maintenance and repairs on the equipment. While it is the cheaper of the two, in this case of leasing you would not be able to bank on that nice federal tax credit.

With either choice in mind, it is recommended that you take your time and shop for quotes on how much the total cost would be from different contractors.

HAVE YOU DONE THE MATH?

Going Solar can be an expensive endeavor, in regards to both time and money. Check with your local energy supplier and see what sort of benefits they have for those with solar. Take a look at the net metering laws for your area.

Lastly, do you plan on sticking around? Taking all of these details in mind, Solar can be quite the undertaking. Just take the time to consider whether or not you're prepared for the long haul, so to speak.

SETTLING THE CONTRACT

The written contract should include the company's contact information, the warranty details, contract length and cancellation fee (if applicable), payment schedule and any verbal promises. Also, ask what should happen if you don't get as much off on your electric bill as promised and get that in writing as well. Do not sign the contract unless you are 100 percent satisfied with what is written. When coordinating the payment schedule, never pay more than 10 percent down, or $1,000, whichever is less.

Don't Let Leaky Pipes, Faucets or Other Plumbing Issues Drain Your Savings

It's nice to be out of the drought, but that doesn't mean a leak or two around the house should be ignored. A simple dripping faucet can waste up to 5-8 gallons of water per-day, whereas a running toilet can easily waste a whopping 200 gallons of water in a single day. An ignored or unnoticed leak can be extremely costly if left alone, especially for homes with water meters, which are most in California.

HIRING A PLUMBER

For more complex house projects or repairs, you would want to hire a plumbing contractor, rather than just a plumber. A Plumber does not necessarily need to be officially licensed to get the job done, just so long as the total cost of the project doesn't go over $500. An unlicensed Plumber cannot do multiple jobs under $500 to avoid being licensed. The license in question is a C-36 Plumbing Contractor license, which is granted by the California State Licensing Board. You can find more information and verify a plumber's license at www.cslb.ca.gov.

Also, be sure the company has personal and property damage liability insurance, as well as workers' compensation insurance should something happen on your property while they are on the job.

GET IT ALL IN WRITING

When you've decided on a plumber, make sure to have them write out a contract for you to keep. The contract should contain the company's full contact information, the total cost, start/completion dates, details of work, verbal promises that were made, warranty information, cost of materials (if not part of total cost), quality of the products, and whether or not they charge a cleanup fee. When coordinating the payment schedule, never pay more than 10 percent down or $1,000, whichever is less. Also, get retention payments in writing which includes the amount, the date, and the scope of work completed.

WHAT CAN YOU DO TO PREVENT SMALL PLUMBING-RELATED DISASTERS?

Like anything else, it pays to be prepared ahead of time so that you can deal with a problem quickly.

- Know where the water shut-off valves for your home are located.
- If you have more than one bathroom in your house, you might want to have a plunger for each bathroom in case you might need one quickly.
- Don't flush trash down the toilet.
- Avoid using drain un-clogging solutions
- A few of the many things you shouldn't put down your garbage disposal
  - Coffee Grounds
  - Oil
  - Celery
  - Bones
  - Pasta/Rice
  - Any starch-based foods
- Have an expert inspect your house's pipes at least once every few years.

WHY DIY SOMETIMES ISN'T THE ANSWER

While fixing things yourself can be the cheapest option in principle, DIY methods can often incur higher costs if you're not careful. As such, there are many pros and cons that come with DIY fixes. Many plumbers warn against using a drain un-clogging solution, as it can actually cause highly corrosive damage the pipes themselves, thus causing a larger problem. Sometimes the cheapest option in the long-run might be hiring an individual who is more equipped for the task, and deals with problems such as these on a daily basis.

More than just flood control.

Ever since local voters created this special district in 1956, it has protected the Fresno/Clovis area from rain season flooding to which it is historically prone. Dams and reservoirs capture floodwater before it can reach homes, businesses, and farms. The network of 153 urban stormwater basins keeps the cities dry during storms, helps replenish the groundwater aquifer, and filters out pollutants washed from streets.
